Arrival of the Wives and Children of the Heroes of Fort Sumter.

THEIR STATEMENTS—THE GARRISON SHORT OF PROVISIONS.

[From the New York Tribune, 7th.]

The steamship Marion, Capt. Adkins, arrived at this port yesterday afternoon, from Charleston. She brought, as passengers, the wives and children of the garrison at Fort Sumter. She had a full cargo, consisting of 600 bales of cotton and 1[illegible]4 barrels of rice. On account of severe northeast winds, encountered throughout almost the entire voyage, she was delayed eighteen hours over her usual time.

The families of the soldiers of Fort Sumter are sent home by direction of Maj. Anderson, in order to place them in safety.

Of the whole number of persons who are thus returned to this city, 25 are children. The following is a full list:

Mrs. S. A. Cox and child, C. W. Hersey, Felix Rafferty, Robert Jackson, George Leighton, George Stenhouse, Samuel N. Holmes, H. H. Safford, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Whitesfield, Mrs. Hammer and two children, Miss Smythe, G. Patterson, John Haberon, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Neilson and three children, Mrs. Burns, Miss Burns, Mrs. Galway and two children, Mrs. Smith and two children, Mrs. Ronihan and two children, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. McDonnell and two children, Mrs. Carroll and three children, Mrs. McMann and three children, Mrs. Rice and one child, Mrs. Murphy and one child, Mrs. Davis and one child, Mrs. Strand and one child, Mrs. Sheaverer and one child, Samuel Simon, and six in the steerage. Total, 62.

Shortly after their arrival they were taken to Fort Hamilton, where they are to remain for the present. They represent the garrison as in excellent health. The statements are conflicting in regard to the provisions in the fort, though most believe them very scanty. The supplies have been pork, corn, beef and flour, without any vegetables.

Major Anderson seems to have inspired his men with enthusiastic devotion. Said one of the women with whom we conversed: "There is not a man but will fight for him, if it comes to the point—if he is left there to be butchered." And she added, "If it comes to that, it will be nothing but a flood of human blood. They have everything ready for an attack. If they had men enough and provisions enough, the fort could never be taken. If they fight, not a soul can ever come out alive. It is a shame," continued the woman, her face flushing with indignation, while her voice was tremulous with emotion at the thought of the appalling fate in store for her husband: "it is a shame that the President will leave them in such peril!" "We had to leave our husbands," said another, "because there was not food enough for us all. And now the great government will allow them to be butchered!"

In reference to the Star of the West, some of them say, that in the fort it was at first supposed to be a ruse on the part of the Carolinains—that the Charlestonians had sent up the boat and opened the fire, so as to induce Anderson to attack them.—But as soon as the garrison found that this was not the case, every man was eager for the word to apply the matches, which they had ready. Maj. Anderson's preventing the consummation of this desire, seems to be the only cause of disaffection among the troops.

We spoke with a bright, intelligent little girl, of some ten years of age, and asked whether she would prefer living in Fort Sumter or Hamilton. She said she had not seen Fort Hamilton yet, and did not know which she would like best. She said they lived as well as they could expect to in such a place, and added: "We had coffee and hard bread—they call sea biscuit hard bread—and soft bread—that is the bread they make at the fort—and butter for breakfast."

"Did you have anything else?"

"We could not get anything else."

"And for dinner?"

"We had corn beef and salt pork, and sometimes bean soup and bread."

"For supper?"

We had just the same for supper that we had for breakfast—coffee and bread. We never had any vegetables. The last day we were there we had some fresh beef; that was all the fresh meat we ever had. We had as much as we wanted such as it was. The men did the cooking, and they are real good cooks. Maj. Anderson said that when they came from Fort Moultrie they brought many things not in reason, and left behind some things they needed. They brought chairs without bottoms, and tables without legs enough to stand up.

The women say that for a time Maj. Anderson was not allowed to receive letters, and that now letters show that they have been opened previous to their reaching Ft. Sumter. They could buy nothing in Charleston, not even a pair of shoes for their children.

It was believed that the fort would be attacked on the closing of the border state convention at Washington, and the garrison are fully aware that preparations are making for an attack on the fort, and they understand that the great floating battery is nearly completed. It is said to be impervious to the shot from the fort. Extra watch is kept night and day, and many a weary eye is turned daily toward the entrance of the harbor to catch the first glimpse of the hoped-for vessel with reinforcements.

Not one of the garrison has deserted or attempted to escape. They are all firm and cheerful, ready to resist an attack, but they do not for a moment suppose that they—seventy-nine in number—will be left by the federal government to resist all South Carolina. They would prefer an attack to being starved out.

No reinforcements had been received when the Marion left, and from the statement of Capt. Adkins it would appear that difficulties would be met in entering the harbor at Charleston with reinforcements or supplies. The Charleston volunteers are drilling daily, and they, with the aid of laborers are placing Moultrie and the other forts on the harbor in the best state of defense. There are now about three thousand soldiers in the entrenchments, and their number is constantly augmented by arrivals from the interior of the state.

It is represented that whatever work is done in the way of rendering Fort Moultrie capable of repeling attack, she cannot be made to command Sumter in any event, or be able to damage that fort by her cannonade.

Great difficulty is experienced by the Charleston military in the want of experienced artillerists, as they have but half a dozen old soldiers in their ranks who are acquainted with the handling of guns.

The main channel still remains blocked up with sunken vessels, and cannot be used until cleared out.

The vessels which now leave the port are compelled to take the side channels, and cannot leave at all without the aid of pilots from Charleston and when the sea is perfectly smooth.

The families spoken of above left Fort Sumter last Friday, and by the aid of a lighter, were taken direct to the Marion, on board of which they remained till the time of her departure on Sunday. When passing the fort the men waved their handkerchiefs to their wives, cheered, and fired off a gun.

To the editor of the N. Y. Herald:

On Sunday, the 3d inst., as the steamer Marion was proceeding down Charleston harbor, bound for New York, and having on board amongst the passengers, the wives—twenty in number—and children of the soldiers stationed at Fort Sumter, a somewhat exciting scene occurred.

On nearing the fort the whole garrison was seen, mounted on the top of the ramparts, and when the ship was passing fired a gun and gave three heart-thrilling cheers as a parting farewell to the dear loved ones on board, whom they may possibly never meet again this side of the grave.

The response was weeping and "wavering adieus" to husbands and fathers. A small band pent up in an isolated fort and completely surrounded by instruments of death, as forts could be seen from the steamer's deck, with their guns pointing toward Sumter.

As the ship proceeded on her voyage, the earnest prayer of many sympathizing hearts on board was that no collision would ever take place between these men, so honestly arrayed against each other, but who are in reality brothers. J. H.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

February Appointments.

Dr. V. C. Price,

ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,

OF BUFFALO, N. Y.,

WILL be for consultation on diseases generally, at Janesville, Ford House, on Friday and Saturday forenoon, the 15th and 16th of February; Woodstock, Feb. 17th and 18th; Whitewater, Feb. 14th; Racine, Feb. 11th.

Dr. Price devotes all of his time to the cure of Scrofula, Rheumatism, Fits, Nervous Maladies, Female Difficulties, Consumption, Throat, Liver, Heart, and all Chronic diseases.

Our practice of seventeen years standing differs from all others, founded on truth, no trifling with human existence, sacrificing life by experiments. We know on examination the cause of disease and remedies needed to remove it, not by guessing but by knowledge. No poisons or harsh medicines to ruin the constitution, no making sick to make well, tearing down to build up, giving encouragement without a prospect, no abandoning business or starving, nor coming once never to be seen again. We are regular every few weeks in our visits, frank in our opinions, honest in our dealings, and moderate in our charges. We invite investigation, claim not to know everything, or to cure everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense, and to cure seven out of ten pronounced incurable. We respectfully request those who have tried this respectable physician, that scientific doctor, boasted and advertised medicines and doctors till worn out and discouraged, to call upon us. It costs nothing, as consultation is free. dec31daw

City of Janesville.

Tuesday Evening, Feb'y 12, 1861.

Official Paper of the City.

Mr. Lincoln's Speech.

The speech of the president elect at Indiannapolis, though it principally consists of questions propounded on the secession matter, indicates what his ideas are on the subject, and that the course he will pursue will be wise, prudent and firm.

Threats of the Capitalists.

The capitalists of New York and Boston have given out that unless there is a compromise on the subject of slavery, satisfactory to the south, they will not take the new loan which is proposed, and thus the wheels of government will be stopped. It seems that Wall street and State street have combined with the slave power to compel a settlement, according to their terms. Upon the part of either it is an arrogant assumption of an exclusive right to dictate the policy of a government of the whole people. We much mistake the temper of the times if capital in negroes and stocks can thus force measures upon those who are not fortunate enough to own large amounts of either.—The gentlemen who proclaim this policy would do well to keep quiet. Their money does not vote, and it is just possible, after all, that, although they may have a larger amount in fewer hands than the rest of mankind, the aggregate in possession of the many may be larger than theirs. If this policy is persisted in, we hope the people at large will be permitted to subscribe to this loan. Let subscriptions be opened in all the principal cities, and let small amounts be accepted, instead of allowing the whole sum to be monopolized in the hands of a few overgrown bankers. Louis Napoleon tried this plan and it succeeded admirably. We see no reason why it may not be successful in this country.

A Northwestern Armory.

The Tribune advocates the establishment in Chicago of a government armory for the northwest. There is much justice in this claim. The government has only two armories in the Union, one at Springfield, Massachusetts, the other in Harper's Ferry, Virginia, and twenty arsenals, one in Maine, one in Massachusetts, one in Vermont, two in New York, two in Pennsylvania, one in Maryland, one in the District of Columbia, two in Virginia, and one in each of the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Missouri, Michigan, California and Texas.

While the inferior states of Florida, Louisiana and Arkansas have each an arsenal, Wisconsion, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota are entirely destitute. We have seen it stated that all the arms for these latter states are stored in the arsenal at St. Louis, which was saved from seizure by the secessionists only by a prompt military movement.

It certainly seems as if an armory (which is devoted to the manufacture of arms) should be established in the northwest, and an arsenal given to each state in this important and growing section of the Union. The Tribune calls attention to the fact that some years ago a commission was appointed to look out a suitable place for an armory in the west; but nothing has since been done about it. Now is a good time to renew the discussion of the subject, and we hope the representives in congress from the western states will give it the attention it deserves. With a western President, and a largely increased representation in the popular branch of the government, the effort can be made with every hope of success.

A Genuine Southern Compromiser.—When Nellie was three and a half years old, she chanced to visit a cousin, a few months older than herself. They played harmoniously for some time, but at length a dispute arose about a few beads, of which each determined to gain possession. Just as it seemed evident that a struggle would ensue, a new idea struck Nellie. Relinquishing her hold of the coveted prize, she exclaimed, while her countenance glowed with satisfaction, at what she felt to be a conclusive argument—"Oh, Lizzie, you should remember the golden rule, to be kind to each other—give me all of them."

☞ We hear by telegraph that the southern confederacy is framed. Well, it appears that it is easier to frame a government, on paper, than to put timbers together to form a floating battery in Charleston harbor. The latter did very well until it sunk to the bottom. When the paper government at Montgomery begins to float out to sea, to take its chances with other government crafts, it will sink too, and ignominiously drown the horse-marines who navigate her.

A New Claim.—A new trouble is staring in the face the secessionists of Louisiana. The English papers claim a right to navigate the Mississippi, which, they say, secession cannot abrogate. By the treaty of Paris, signed on the 30th of November, 1782, it was stipulated that "the navigation of the Mississippi, from its source to the ocean, shall forever remain free and open to the subjects of Great Britain and the citizens of the United States."

☞ The new southern confederacy starts off well for obtaining a good character among the nations. In addition to stealing forts, robbing mints and plundering arsenals and custom houses, the "empire" of Georgia has commenced the work of piracy, by taking possession of five merchant vessels belonging to private citizens of New York. Since Algiers and Tunis have become civilized, the southern confederacy will stand alone among the nations who make robbery an institution.

The Richmond Enquirer now appears printed, one half in English, and one half in German. Had it adopted this form twenty years ago, and contrived to serve its German readers with the English half, and vice versa, both classes would have been the gainers no doubt.

The Texas convention has passed an ordinance favoring the formation of a Southern Confederacy, and elected seven delegates to the southern congress.

In Congress, Mr. Craig of New York presented resolutions in favor of peaceable secession. The House adopted a resolution that neither Congress nor the non-slaveholding states have the right to interfere with slavery in any slaveholding state—ayes 161, nays none. Mr. McKean offered a resolution to purchase the slaves of the border states. In the senate an amendment to the navy appropriation bill was voted to build seven sloops of war. Mr. Grow indicated that he should propose to repeal that portion of the Pacific railroad bill giving certain privileges to the Texas branch, if that state secedes.

A Better Currency Demanded.

What is the reason that exchange is now selling at 7 per cent. in Wisconsin and Illinois when at other commercial centers in other western states—say Cincinnati and Detroit—it can be had at ½al per cent.? The reason lies in the vicious nature of our currency. It is not convertible. A great proportion of it is "wild cat." Some of our merchants are paying two or three thousand dollars per week for exchange. It is a ruinous shave upon them, and they must make it out of their customers or do a losing business. The attention of our legislature, and that of Illinois is directed to this subject. Let the evil be abated. We trust our members will not leave the capital without providing a sure remedy. If Illinois will not do her part in the matter, prohibit her currency, make it unlawful to pass it in the state, make it so that a debt cannot be paid with such worthless rags; and if Wisconsin fails to take proper measures for making her currency good, let Illinois serve our currency in the same way.

Equality in the Territories, is what the south is contending for. Very well, they ought to have it. Nobody proposes to prevent a man, from any part of the country, emigrating to whatever territory he chooses. No one objects to the southern emigrant taking with him just such property as a northern man carries with him. To give the northern man the privilege of transferring to his new home a species of property which is denied to his southern brother, would be unfair—both should go upon an equality in this respect. If the northern man cannot take a negro slave with him, ought the southerner to insist upon the privilege? Certainly not. Let us have equality in the territories, and inasmuch as slaves are not common property throughout the whole country, they ought not to be admitted to the common territories.

Florida has repudiated the star spangled banner. She was grateful enough for the sight of it when her atmosphere was loaded with the war-whoops of Seminoles. Louisiana has repudiated it, but it was a joy and a beauty to her eyes when the troops of Kentucky and Tennessee marched under it to protect her emporium from the ravages of the hosts whose war-cry was "beauty and booty." Texas, too, is about to repudiate it, but her soul was gladdened by its stars and stripes as it led on the army which it beat back and annihilated forever the power of her dreaded enemy.—Louisville Journal.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

Madison, Feb. 11.

ASSEMBLY.—The Speaker presented the account of Arthur & Co., for arrears for stationery in 1855 and 1857, of $500, with a communication from the secretary of state, setting forth the facts in the case; referred to the committee on claims. This account is for stationery got by Halpin & Hunt, who the secretary says had no authority to purchase.

By Mr. Gee—To amend the law relating to the collection of taxes on school, university and swamp lands, and lands mortgaged to the state.

BILLS PASSED.

To provide for apportionment of school money.

To amend sec. 101, chap. 18, R. S., of the assessment and collection of taxes. It provides more effectually to collect taxes on personal property, after return to county treasurer.

To amend Revised Statutes on writs of error, &c.

Of law school and law library associations.

SENATE.—Sen. Hutchinson introduced a bill requiring corporations out of the state, doing business in the state, to keep an office of record in the state, accessible to the legal tribunals.

Sen. Hazleton—Bill to extend the time for advertising the list of delinquent lands for taxes to May.

The committee on internal improvements reported that the manuscript of Edward Daniels, relative to the geology of the state, was not of sufficient importance to warrant its publication in a separate volume, and recommended that it be returned to the author, which was concurred in.

The senate bill appropriating $10,000 contingent fund to the governor passed. Also a bill to amend chapter 142, R. S., concerning partition of lands.

The senate spent some little time in committee and then adjourned.

The commissioner matter came up in the assembly in its order, and was made the special order for Wednesday, at 11 A. M. In the meantime the republicans are canvassing over the matter, and will probably settle on some course of action.

Affairs in New Orleans.—Everything in this city appears to be in rapid progress toward a war establishment. Trade is at a stand still; the importation of merchandise has almost wholly ceased; the warehouses of the federal government are everywhere literally glutted with bonded goods; the banks are remorselessly curtailing their discounts; ordinary creditors are endeavoring by all means short of legal pressure to lessen the liabilities of their debtors; stores and manufactories, traders and mechanics are diminishing their expenses by the discharge of hands, and, save the office-holders, an influential, wealthy, and important body, electorally considered, everybody looks dubious and bewildered, not knowing what to expect or what may happen. The proceedings at Baton Rouge will take no one by surprise. The legislature is engaged in spending money profusely, and the convention is engaged in laying down a broad foundation for the erection of a monstrous superstructure of debt. The governor, who doubtless knows what he says, assures the public that the resources of the state are, if not inexhaustible, in a most flourishing condition; that there is a surplus in the treasury; that certain trusts funds of considerable amount may be used, like bread in a cheap restaurant, at discretion; that everybody is well off, happy and independent; that railroads upon which the people have generously expended or squandered millions are not only prosperous, but affluent, although the sixty day notes of one of the largest of them, in sums of ten dollars (for labor) and upwards, are to be met with everywhere. From the facts, as they appear to men far removed from the flowery paths of official elevation, one would conclude that the fortunate possessors of distinguished places either saw the same thing through a very different medium, or were themselves so far removed from the common tract of ordinary mortality as not to put political observation alongside of common sense political views; otherwise we cannot believe any chief magistrate would fall into the error—for error we prefer to regard it—of ignoring the true state of things now existing in this community.—New Orleans True Delta.

Schuyler Colfax.—Very general attention is drawn towards Mr. Colfax as the right man for the Post Office Department. His services in the present congress have shown a peculiar fitness for the position, and his general character commends him as one of the best advisers Mr. Lincoln can have. The Washington correspondent of the New York Independent says:

"There is a very strong feeling here among men of all parties, and from all sections of the country, in favor of Mr. Colfax's nomination to the Post Office Department by the new president. The fitness of the man for the place is the plea on all hands. A majority of the New England members have asked Mr. Lincoln for his appointment; many southern men have made a similar request; and whatever the result may be, the testimonials are very flattering to Mr. Colfax. I do not believe there is another man in the country so well fitted for the post, and this is the universal feeling in Washington."

Government Funds in Southern States.—According to the monthly statement of the treasury department, the amount of money in the mint at New Orleans, on the 21st of January, was $389,267. This sum is, therefore, in possession of the traitors of that city. The following table shows the balances now subject to draft in secession states:

New Orleans	$121,238
Charleston	15,068
Mobile	19,999
Savannah	1,893
Galveston	6,892
Little Rock	3,669
Dahlonga (mint)	27,950
New Orleans (mint)	389,267
Total	$585,975

A dandy being told that he would soon have to wear a wig, as he was getting gray, exclaimed, indignantly, "No, sir, I'll dye first!"

Applications for patents are made as usual from seceding states, and are acted upon as if the Union was intact.

Now and Then.—Model wives formerly took a "stitch in time," but now, with the aid of a sewing machine, they take one in no time.

Telegraphic.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

[We wait until half-past four o'clock, and hear nothing from the telegraph office, whether the line is down or whether more important business than the newspaper report is occupying its attention. The following, and the synopsis we elsewhere publish, we gather from our Milwaukee morning papers.—Eds. Gazette.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 11—3 P. M.

Mr. Lincoln left the hotel at 7:30 A. M., accompanied by a large concourse to the depot, where nearly one thousand citizens had already collected. After he had shaken hands with a number of friends, he took his stand on the platform of a car, and spoke as follows:

My friends, no one not in my position, can appreciate the sadness I feel at this parting. I am here, and have lived more than a quarter of a century here. My children were born here, and here one of them lies buried. I know not how soon I shall see you again.

A duty devolves upon me, which is perhaps greater than that which has devolved upon any other man since the days of Washington. He never would have succeeded except for the aid of Divine Providence, upon which he at all times relied. I feel that I cannot succeed without the same Divine aid which sustained him, and in the same Almighty Being I place my reliance for support, and hope you, friends, will all pray that I may receive that Divine assistance, without which I cannot succeed, but with it success is certain. Again I bid you all an affectionate farewell. [Loud applause, and cries of "we will pray for you."]

Chicago, Feb. 11.

Indianapolis, Feb. 11—9 P. M.

The firing of 34 guns announced the approaching train bearing the President elect and party. The President was received and welcomed by Gov. O. P. Morton, and escorted to a carriage drawn by four white horses. The procession formed itself into a pageant seldom if ever witnessed here before. The procession was composed of the members of both houses of the legislature, public officers, municipal authorities, military and fire companies, citizens and strangers.

The President elect stood in his carriage, acknowledged the welcome. The procession, upon reaching the Bates House, halted, and Mr. Lincoln was escorted to the balcony, where he addressed his fellow-citizens. He said he came here to thank them for the support given by Indiana to a true and just cause. Coercion and invasion are terms much used now with temper and hot blood. Let us not misunderstand their meaning, nor the meaning of those who use them; let us get their meaning from the men who deprecate the things they would represent by their use. What is the meaning of these words?

Would marching an army into South Carolina with hostile intent be invasion? I think it would; and it would be coercion also, if the South Carolinians were forced to submit. But if the United States would merely hold and retake its own forts, and collect the duties, or withhold the mails where they were habitually violated, would any of all these things be invasion or coercion? Do professional Union lovers, resolved to resist coercion, understand that such things as these on the part of the United States would be coercion or invasion? If they do, their idea of preservation is exceedingly thin and airy. In their view, the Union as a family relation would seem to be no regular marriage, but a sort of free love arrangement to be maintained by personal attractions. In what consists the special sacredness of a state? I speak not of the position assigned to a state by the constitution, for that by the bond we all recognize.

If a state or county posess equal rights in territory and inhabitants, in what, as a matter of principle is the state better than the county? Would an exchange of names be an exchange of rights upon principle?—By what rightful principle may a state, being not more than one-fifteenth part of the nation in size and population, break up the nation and then coerce the larger division of itself? What mysterious right to place is conferred on a district of country with its people calling it a state?

Mr. Lincoln, in conclusion, said he was not asserting anything, but asking questions for them to consider and decide in their own minds what was right and what was wrong.

Gov. Morton, being loudly called for, appeared and spoke in a congratulatory tone to the gathering, which was now immense.

At 7 o'clock this evening the members of the legislature paid their respects to the President elect, who is now holding a reception at the Bates House.

The president elect and suit leave for Cincinnati to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Look out for the Bullets.—Chancellor Walworth does not like bullets. In his speech before the Albany convention yesterday he said: "I could not resist coming here to enter my protest against civil war. I have seen the horrors of such a conflict. In the war of 1812 my house in Plattsburg was sacked by the British. A battle was fought opposite my very doors, and the bullets that were fired fell like hailstones around my dwelling. In the casement of my door remains embedded one of these bullets, a memento of the flight."

It certainly must have been very wrong in the United States to carry on a war which endangered the chancellor's house; and that bullet in his door is an enduring rebuke to the carelessness of the government for not stipulating that there should be no shooting before commencing a "civil" war with Great Britain. Sooner than expose the venerable chancellor's dwelling to the bullets of a hostile southern confederacy, surrender all the government property to traitors, allow every insult to the national flag to pass unnoticed, let all the states withdraw that wish to, and abandon the Union at once. The chancellor's house must be protected from bullets all hazards. —New York Post.

What They are At.—The oldest leaders of democracy throughout the nation are improving the present state of affairs to break the ranks of the republican party.—In every conceivable way they seek to compass this end. It is their game in this state as elsewhere. Under the specious garb of union saving, they are poking in measures, tempting the cows-boys, or half republicans, and shedding crocodile tears over the state of the nation, boohooing for the union like bereaved puppies for the pap, and all for what? Not that they love the government, but the offices. Saving the union is only secondary to their wish to get back into power. To do this they must save the union by knocking to pieces the republican party. To shiver the party they must coax its leaders into a compromise which the genuine men of the party cannot endorse.—Monroe Sentinel.

Importance of the Anderson Extradition Case.

The London Times thus closes an article on the case of the negro Anderson, whose surrender in Canada is demanded by the United States:

We do not seek to conceal from ourselves the vast importance of the impending issue. If the decision be in favor of the negro, we cannot help seeing that at a very critical moment a most weighty and damaging censure will have been passed by the highest authority on the laws and practices of the United States—a censure not likely to be soon forgotten or forgiven, since it must be founded on the assumption that their laws cannot be enforced, because they are contrary to the very first principles of natural justice. If, on the other hand, the decision should be against the negro, we cannot regard without apprehension the excitement of feelings in this country which may, for years to come, poison our relations with one half the United States. We, at least, are not accustomed to act as bailiffs, or as goalers for the slaveowners of the south, and it has been long since England has experienced a day of such humiliation as she would feel, if, through the provisions of a treaty negotiated and entered into for other objects, she felt herself compelled, by the charge of a crime the existence of which she does not admit, to surrender a slave who has lived in freedom seven years under the protection of her laws to the hands, not of his infuriated master, but of that mob which holds a reign of undisputed terror over the free and black population of fifteen Anglo Saxon republics.

Our Flag is There!—It is but a few weeks ago since men of all parties were on the stump endeavoring to influence public sentiment and determine the presidential contest in their own favor, in other words, in favor of their particular candidate and principles. The smoke of the Wide Awake and Hickory lamps has hardly yet passed away, and yet we find men who urged republicans by every consideration of manhood, honor and freedom to stand by the doctrine of the non-extension of slavery, laboring to convince the people that the extension of slavery is necessary to the salvation of this government! Douglas democrats who, at Charleston, repudiated and spit upon the Breckinridge platform, now applaud William Kellogg and others, who endorse the Breckinridge doctrines! We, through the colums of this paper, advocated freedom as a cardinal republican principle. We did so because we honestly believed it. Men may sit in the halls of congress and betray republicans—may go over to the camp of the enemy and exalt slavery over freedom, but we will not do it. What we advocated during the last campaign, we will stick to through every trial. Woe, woe, betide the renegade and traitor, who deserts freedom in this her trial hour! We say to all the many thousand readers of the Journal, that we have in good faith, advocated republican principle, and we will never surrender them at the bidding of the slave power, or of the democratic party, or of renegade republicans. We say to our readers, and to the country, that the glorious republican whom we have elected to the Presidency, is just as true to the republican faith as we are, and that he will never, never, never betray the nearly two millions of men who voted for him. Next Monday he starts for Washington. All along the lines of his journey the people will press forward to do him honor. In due time he will reach the capital—take the oath of office, and deliver his inaugural address. Then will true men rejoice, and traitors to country and principle hang their heads in shame. In Abraham Lincoln the country will have a President true to the principles upon which he was elected—true to his country, its constitution and laws, and true to the cause of freedom.—Illinois State Journal.

American Secession in Germany.—A German correspondent says:

The secession of South Carolina is treated by most Germans in not very complimentary terms. In fact, she might as well have seceded from the solar system, as far as active sympathy in Europe is concerned. People had hoped that America would keep quiet till Europe was settled, but since we will have our little tangle too, we may untie it alone. This is the aptitude, I think of the continental press; and you know yourself ere now how strongly the English papers reprobate the folly of secession.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

VISITING THE INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND.—A joint committee of the two houses of the legislature, consisting of Messrs. Bean, Decker and Carey, of the senate, and M'srs. Knapp, Casey, Dieves, Long and Atwood of the assembly, are in town to day visiting the state institute for the blind. We understand they will go to Delavan to examine the asylum for the deaf and dumb.

A CHALLENGE.—The Curlers of Columbia county, Wisconsin, challenge any county in the state to the "roaring game," with from ten to fifteen rinks, to be played within the present month, at or within thirty miles of the city of Portage.

Any communication on the subject may be addressed to Andrew Weir, at Portage City, Wisconsin.

REMOVAL.—Harris, Marsh & Co. have removed their stock of dry goods to the store in Myers' block formerly occupied by B. Bornheim.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—A temperance meeting, preliminary to the convention to-morrow, will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church this evening. Dr. Jewett and the Rev. Mr. Love of Milwaukee have arrived, and it is expected that these gentlemen or other able advocates of the cause will address the meeting.

The convention meets in Lappin's Hall to-morrow morning and afternoon.

LADIES' FAIR.—The fair last evening was well attended, and the sale of articles pas very good. A large number of articles however, were left unsold, and the fair continued throughout to-day and will close this evening. Let our citizens attend and encourage an enterprise where both buyer and seller receive a real benefit.

FRANK PARKER IN CINCINNATI.—We find in a recent number of the Cincinnati Gazette the followiug notice of a billiard match, in which Frank Parker participated:

Mr. Parker's Billiard Playing.—By a provoking blunder in yesterday's paper, we did injustice to the playing of Mr. Parker of Milwaukee, at the billiard tournament on Monday evening. We said that in the game between Mr. P. and Mr. Tieman, the former's highest run was 38 and the latter's 91. We should have stated, and meant to state, that Mr. Parker's highest run was 91. Mr. Tiemun's highest was 80. The balls used were 3 7-16 inches, and not 3 1-16, as the types had it.

SCALY.—A scaly customer was arrested by officer Wm. Douglass, last night. He was drunk and disorderly (not Bill, but the prisoner,) and had some counterfeit money in his possession. He gave his name as Joseph Ostrander, from Janesville, on his way to New York. The officer did not appear against him, and he was discharged. —Chicago Journal.

A mistake, certain. No such man as Joseph Ostrander in Janesville, and no such kind of "scaly" customers at all. Joe undoubtedly claimed a residence here to avail himself of the good reputation of the city for his own benefit.

CITY TAXES.—The city treasurer to-day made an application to the circuit court, (which is now sitting in an adjourned session,) for a decree of sale on the delinquent list. The application was granted, and the sale will be made.

☞ The members of the military company will meet at the council room this evening, at half-past seven. A full and prompt attendance is desired.

BAND OF HOPE.—The Band of Hope will meet at the Congregational church at a quarter past 1 o'clock to-morrow, prepared to march to Lappin's Hall at 2 o'clock.

O. J. DEARBORN, Sec'y.

SUFFERING IN KANSAS.—A Kansas farmer recently took a load of hay 45 miles to Ellwood to exchange it for something to eat.

An artist allowed little Fannie to look over while he drew a landscape for her.—After watching for a few moments the progress of the picture, she exclaimed—"O, Mr. Wells, do tell me how you make way off so beautifully." The artist prized that compliment, although the critic was only three and a half years old.

Eddie's grandma reprimanded him for an act of disobedience, and told him it was her duty to let his mamma know how naughty he had been. "Oh no, grandma," said he, "I would not trouble her with it."

RATHER STEEP.—A woman appeared at the police court this morning for a warrant. She had a drunken and disorderly husband, she said, and was anxious to tame him. She stated that his appetite for liquor was prodigious that ordinarily he drank three gallons of whisky per week, but latterly had taken in an additional gallon. She was questioned closely upon this point, but she would not vary from her statement, which she solemnly declared to be true. "So long as he would content himself with three gallons a week," said she, "I did not mind it; but when he made a beast of himself by drinking four, and became noisy and belligerant, I could not stand it, and I wouldn't stand it." Of course, a warrant was issued for the unreasonable man.—Chicago Journal.

Why is the Union like a crab-apple?—Because, to be worth anything, it must be preserved.

☞ The attention of those afflicted is directed to the next visit of Dr. V. C. Price, analytical physician, at the Ford House during Friday and Saturday forenoon, the 15th and 16th of February. Dr. Price has already made our city several visits, and intends to do so regularly. He gives his attention to the treatment of all long standing disenses, upon new principles. As he offers consultation free the sick will lose nothing in talking with him. The press at points where he has long been known speak of him in the most commendable terms.

ALL KINDS OF JUSTICE'S BLANKS For Sale at this Office.

Should the terrible conflagrations that are sweeping over the country in all directions prove as frequent and disastrous for a twelve month to come as they have during the last eighteen months, very many of the small Fire Insurance Companies, having their agents scattered throughout the west, must go to the wall, there is no salvation for them. If you would be safe, safe beyond peradventure, always insure with companies that are known to be sound. Such, and such only, are represented at

First—By insuring in this company, the advantages of a Mutual Insurance Company are obtained, with the additional advantage afforded in the security given by an ample and reliable Cash Capital—a feature not presented by ordinary Mutual Fire Insurance Companies. The dividends to customers, already declared, are as follows:

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Amalgamation of Languages.—There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words in other languages, and after a while to incorporate them into their own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming particularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as electrotype and many others whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage until they seem "native and to the manor born."

'ardly Realized.

Hi 'ad 'n 'orrible 'eadache this afternoon, hend I stepped into the hapothecaries hand says hi to the man, "Can you hease me of an 'eadache?" "Does it hache 'ard," says 'e. "Hexceedingly," says hi, hand upon that 'e gave me a Cephalic Pill, hand 'pon me 'onor it cured me so quick that I 'ardly realized I 'ad 'ad an 'eadache.

☞ Headache is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepatic disease constituting bilious headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with headaches; Anæmia and plethora are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Idiopathic headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on suddenly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper.—In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vomiting; under this class may al·· be named Neuralgia.

For the treatment of eith·· class of headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which headache is the unerring index.

Bridget.—Missus wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Glue, no, a bottle of prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it neither; but perhaps ye'll be afther knowing what it is. Ye see she's nigh dead and gone with the sick headache, and wants some more of that same as relaived her before.

Druggist.—You must mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills.

Bridget.—Och! sure now and you've sed it, here's the quarter and give me the pills and dont be all day about it aither.

Constipation or Costiveness.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as costiveness. Often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Rheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles and others of like nature, while a long train of frightful diseases such as Malignant Fevers, Abcesses, Dysentary, Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the cause is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pills on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insiduous approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

A Real Blessing.

Mrs. Jones.—Gone! Doctor, all gone! the pill you sent cured me in just twenty minutes, and I wish you would send more so that I can have them handy.

Physician.—You can get them at any Druggists.—Call for Cephalic Pills, I find they never fail, and I recommend them in all cases of headache.

Mrs. Jones.—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

Twenty Millions of Dollars Saved.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue, and it is estimated that each bottle saves at least ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his glue, headache will soon vanish away like snow in July.

☞ Over Excitement, and the mental care and anxiety incident to close attention to business or study, are among the numerous causes of nervous headache. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this distressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Sufferers by this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks, by using one of the Cephalic Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked brain, and soothes the strained and jarring nerves, and relaxes the tension of the stomach which always accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

Great Discovery.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Small Pox, the Cephalic Pill for relief of headache, and the use of Quinine for the prevention of fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose benefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoverers are forgotten.

☞ Did you ever have the sick headache? ☞ Do you remember the throbbing temples, the fevered brow, the loathing and disgust at the sight of food. How totally unfit you were for pleasure, conversation or study.—One of the Cephalic Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes you should always have a box of them on hand to use as occasion requires.
